Heartland Elementary COLD WEATHER & SNOW DAY POLICIES

Parents/Guardians:

There are many families that do not know the school policy for cold weather days. We want to give you that information so that you can plan with your student(s) what winter clothing is appropriate for which days.

22 degrees or warmer: Outside day

21 degrees or colder: Inside day

If there is a bad weather inversion, or if it is precipitating (rain or snow) heavily, there is also a chance of having an inside day. These days are decided by the administration, and may change several times throughout the day

The easiest way to tell if it is an inside day is to look for the ORANGE FLAG at every doorway. If you see the flag there, it is an inside day and the students are to enter into the building immediately.

Be sure to send your student(s) with the appropriate winter wear each and every day. It's better to be prepared than left out in the cold, so send those hats and gloves! Plan ahead to keep your child warm. If your child has extenuating health concerns that make cold weather difficult, please contact your child's teacher.

For the safety of your child and the other children, please review the following restrictions. The students are not to be sliding on the ice, throwing snowballs, or kicking snow up into the air. We have already had student injuries due to these activities; therefore, disciplinary consequences will be in place if this behavior occurs.
